Summer in the Mountains!
Summer 2013

Summer is officially here on Friday the 21st and there's no better place to spend the summer than in the mountains of Colorado. Along with the beauty and near perfect weather comes the responsibility and diligence of living in these mountains. We have all been aware of the wildfire danger that is a part of daily living in a climate with low humidity and sparse rainfall.

The following link will take you to the Colorado Office of Emergency Management; from there you can click on your county of residence (Clear Creek, Jefferson or Park) <http://www.coemergency.com> to find out about fire restrictions and emergency preparedness.

Please read the listings under "Emergencies" and especially the CodeRED Notifications. It gives you important information concerning how you receive notifications of dangerous situations, including wildfire evacuations. If you do not have a traditional land line or would like to receive notices on your cell phone in addition to your land line, you will need to register your cell phone by clicking on the link under the CodeRED section to register your cell phone.

We live in one of the most beautiful parts of the country. However, we must all be diligent when it comes to the safety of our families, our neighbors and our communities.

Also, feel free to check out a great article and video about downtown Evergreen done by Denver FOX31 at the following link:
